Welcome Kit and Debit Card

Will I receive an HSA Bank Health Benefits Debit Card?

If you are already enrolled in an HSA with HSA Bank and have an HSA Bank Health Benefits Debit Card, any additional spending accounts (such as FSA) will automatically be added to your existing debit card. HSA Bank uses a single debit card for all the accounts in which you're enrolled. If you don't have an existing account with HSA Bank and are a new participant, you'll receive a new debit card within 10-14 business days of your plan effective date.

If I'm enrolled in multiple accounts and the same card is used for all accounts, how do expenses get withdrawn from the correct account?

HSA Bank's debit card is automatically programmed to withdraw funds from the appropriate account based upon your elections and where your card is used. As an example, card usage at vision and dental providers will always be withdrawn from the Limited Purpose FSA first, whereas medical expenses are always withdrawn from the HCFSA or HSA. Card usage for dependent care providers will be drawn from the Dependent Care FSA. While this is unlikely, if a claim is withdrawn from the incorrect account, you can contact HSA Bank to have the claim reallocated to the correct account.

When will I receive a welcome kit and my new debit card?

You will receive an HSA Bank welcome kit and/or debit card by the end of December. The welcome kit will be mailed in a separate envelope from your debit card. Again, if you are already enrolled in an HSA with HSA Bank and have an active debit card, your 2025 spending accounts will automatically be added to your existing debit card.

How do I activate my new debit card?

Your new card will be activated the first time you use it. You can use your new card to pay for IRS-qualified healthcare expenses at places such as doctors' offices, hospitals, pharmacies, dentists' offices, vision providers and dependent care providers.

What types of expenses can I use my debit card for?

The HSA Bank Health Benefits Debit Card can be used to pay for all IRS 213(d) qualified medical, prescription, dental, vision, and dependent care expenses. Learn more.

Why do I see duplicate transactions in my account?

When you use your debit card for partial or full payment of a service or office visit copay, that card transaction will appear in your account as 'Source: Debit Card'.

If you're enrolled in the HSA, HCFSAs or LPFSA, a claim for that same service processed by your health plan will automatically be sent to HSA Bank and show up in your account as 'Source: Health Plan'.

You'll want to ensure you don't create a duplicate payment or reimbursement situation by reviewing each expense prior to initiating payment or reimbursement. If you already paid a claim with your debit card, simply select "Mark as Paid" or "Remove Expense," for the claim that came through automatically.

Flexible Spending Account (FSA) FAQ

What are the differences between a Health Care Flexible Spending Account (HCFSAs), Limited Purpose FSA (LPFSA), and Dependent Care FSA (DCFSAs)?

FSAs are tax-advantaged financial accounts used to pay for eligible healthcare expenses for yourself, your spouse, and your dependents. Your taxable income is reduced by the amount you elect to contribute to your FSA for the year.

A Limited Purpose FSA is only available to those eligible to contribute to a Health Savings Account (HSA) and only allows reimbursement for eligible out-of-pocket vision and dental expenses. You can also convert your Limited Purpose FSA to cover all eligible healthcare expenses once you've met your medical plan's annual deductible. See below for more information on converting your LPFSA.

A Healthcare FSA (aka General Healthcare FSA) allows reimbursement for all eligible healthcare expenses. Only those who are not eligible to contribute to a Health Savings Account may elect to participate in a HCFSAs.

A Dependent Care FSA allows reimbursement of dependent care expenses, such as daycare or eldercare, incurred by eligible tax dependents.

Visit hsabank.com/QME for a list of qualified expenses.

How much can I contribute annually to an FSA?

- $3,200*

 The IRS is projected to increase FSA limits from $3,200 to $3,300 for 2025. Parking and transit limits are expected to increase from $315 to $325. After the IRS announces the updated limits, you will have an opportunity to increase your 2025 FSA and/or Commuter Benefits elections.*

2025 IRS Maximum Allowable Contribution Limits: Dependent Care FSA

- $5,000

Visit IRS Guidelines and Eligible Expenses page for more information.

Can I change my FSA contribution amount throughout the year?

Typically, no, unless you have a Qualified Life Event (QLE) such as marriage, divorce, and/or birth of a child.

When are my FSA funds available to use?

If you're enrolled in the HCFA or LPFA, your full annual election amount is available for use immediately on January 1.

If you're enrolled in the DCFA, funds are available for reimbursement up to the balance in your account.

How can I access my funds and file claims?

HSA Bank Health Benefits Debit Card – You may use your debit card at point of sale or after you receive a medical bill from your provider.

Direct Pay to Provider – Submit your claim online and include your provider's billing address. Once the claim is validated and substantiated, a check is sent to your provider to the address you specified on the claim.

Claims Payment to Provider – If you're enrolled in the HCFA or LPFA, claims processed by Anthem medical, Anthem dental, and VSP vision will automatically be sent to HSA Bank.

Like Direct Pay mentioned above, you can choose a claim for payment which is automatically pre-filled with the provider's information. A check is sent to your provider.

Mobile App – Easily file a claim and take a picture of your receipt for upload. You can choose to issue payment directly to a provider or request reimbursement by direct deposit or paper check.

Paper Form – Download the Reimbursement Request Form online and follow the instructions on the form.

Do I need to submit receipts for my FSA claims?

The IRS has established specific guidelines that require all FSA transactions including those made with your HSA Bank debit card to be substantiated (verifying the purchase was for an IRS-qualified medical expense).

HSA Bank will attempt to auto-substantiate debit card claims through various methods. For those times when auto-substantiation is not possible, we'll send you a letter reminding you to submit the proper documentation.

What information needs to be included in my receipt?

For HSA Bank to approve a claim, you must submit a receipt or Explanation of Benefits with the following information:

1. Patient Name: Name of person for whom product/service was purchased.
2. Provider Name: Name of provider or merchant of service or product.
3. Date of Service: Date service was performed, or item purchased.
4. Type of Service: Detailed description of service provided, or item purchased.
5. Cost: Amount paid for product/service and/or portion not covered by your insurance.

If an ineligible expense has been determined based on your receipt, your debit card may be suspended.

Do my dollars in the FSA rollover?

The HCFSAs and LPFSAs allow you to rollover unused dollars to the next plan year (up to the IRS maximum). DCFSAs do not allow for any unused dollars to rollover due to IRS regulations.

Does my FSA plan have a grace period?

None of the Seagate FSA plans offer a grace period.

What if I don't use all my FSA funds within the 2024 plan year?

Qualified expenses for the HCFSAs, LPFSAs and DCFSAs incurred in 2024 must be submitted to HSA Bank by March 31, 2025. Any unused dollars available in your HCFSAs and LPFSAs will rollover (up to the IRS maximum limit of $640). Any unused dollars in your DCFSAs will be forfeited.

If I have an HSA, can I also have a Limited Purpose FSA (LPFSA)?

An LPFSA can be used only by a participant who is enrolled in the HDHP HSA Plan, and the LPFSA is limited to reimbursement for eligible dental and vision care expenses.

How do I convert my Limited Purpose FSA to a general-purpose FSA?

If you meet your medical plan's annual deductible, you can convert your Limited Purpose FSA (LPFSA) to a general-purpose HCFSAs. Once the LPFSA is converted to a HCFSAs, you will be able to use pre-tax earnings to cover a wider range of medical expenses. Download the Limited Purpose FSA Deductible Verification Form online and follow the instructions on the form. If you do not complete the Limited Purpose FSA Deductible Verification Form, your FSA will remain limited purpose, allowing only preventative care, vision, and dental expenses to be reimbursed.

I currently have a Healthcare FSA (HCFSAs) in 2024, can I move to an HSA in 2025?

Yes, if you are eligible to contribute to an HSA. If you change from a HCFSAs one calendar year to an HSA the next calendar year, IRS rules state that your HCFSAs balance must be zero on December 31, 2024 or you are not eligible to contribute to the HSA during calendar year 2025.
