

FAMILY LEAVE OF ABSENCE CHECKLIST

Please use this checklist as a guide to the actions required to make sure your time away from work is approved, tracked, and managed accurately. Most Family Leave is protected, under federal or state law. This means that, if you qualify, you have certain job and benefit protections.

<input type="checkbox"/> 1 Request a Leave of Absence and apply for Paid Family Leave benefits	<input type="checkbox"/> Call AbsenceOne Leave Services at (844) 859-2773 or go online at AbsenceOne.com/seagate to request a leave of absence. <input type="checkbox"/> Within a few business days after you open your leave claim, you will receive an introductory call from your AbsenceOne case manager. <input type="checkbox"/> If you qualify for Paid Family Leave either through Seagate Paid Parental Leave or through a state or local Paid Family Leave plan, your AbsenceOne case manager will set up that claim for you at the time your leave of absence is established. <input type="checkbox"/> If your first day absent from work changes after you have provided it to AbsenceOne, you must notify your case manager of the new first day of absence.
<input type="checkbox"/> 2 Provide all documentation requested to certify your leave of absence	<input type="checkbox"/> AbsenceOne will advise of you any documentation you are required to submit in support of your family leave of absence claim. Failure to supply all required documentation in a timely manner will delay the review and approval of your family leave claim.

Income Replacement During Your Leave

Family Leaves are considered unpaid time off – "unpaid" in the sense that you do not receive your regular Seagate pay during your leave. Your regular Seagate pay for time worked ends effective the first day of your leave of absence. However, during your leave, income replacement benefits may be available to you through accrued vacation pay, Leave Top-Up Pay, Paid Sick Leave, Paid Parental Leave, and certain State Paid Family Leave programs.

You do not receive holiday pay for any Seagate holidays that may fall during your leave – a holiday is considered part of the unpaid Family Leave.

Family Leave Benefits

Depending on the reason for the leave, you may be eligible for:

- Paid Parental Leave benefits
- Paid Family Leave benefits, if you reside in a state that has a Paid Family Leave program. Many of these programs provide benefits for eligible employees who experience a wage loss resulting from an absence due to caring for a seriously ill family member or to bond with a newborn, newly adopted, or newly placed child.

Paid Family Leave benefit payments (governed by state or federal law) are generally subject to federal income tax, but not to FICA taxes or state income taxes. Seagate Paid Parental Leave benefits are treated as supplemental income and are subject to 22% income tax withholding, as well as FICA and state income tax.

Paid Family Leave benefit payments are based on the salary in effect on the first day of your Family Leave. If there is a change to your regular Seagate pay during your leave (such as a focal pay increase), the change in pay is not effective until the day you return to work from your leave. A mid-leave change in salary does not impact your Paid Family Leave pay – for the full duration of your disability, Paid Family Leave benefits are based on the salary in effect on your first day of absence.

AbsenceOne will be able to tell you if you qualify for any Paid Parental or Paid Family Leave benefits.

If you are a Non-Exempt Employee:

If your family leave is protected under any federal, state, or local leave laws, non-exempt employees may be eligible to use available accrued vacation pay or Paid Sick Leave to supplement any Paid Family Leave benefits you receive. However, your combined Paid Family Leave benefit and vacation/sick pay supplement pay cannot exceed 100% of your regular pay.

If you want to use vacation or Paid Sick Leave to supplement your Paid Family Leave benefits, send an email to us.payroll@seagate.com.

If you are an Exempt Employee

If your family leave is protected under any federal, state, or local leave laws, exempt employees may be eligible to use available Seagate Leave Top-Up Pay equal to 100% of your regular base salary at the beginning of your leave, for up to three weeks in a rolling 12-month period. If you are receiving other wage-replacement benefits (such as California Paid Family Leave benefits or Paid Parental Leave benefits), the amount of your Leave Top Up Pay will be reduced by the amount of other benefit payments so that you do not receive more than 100% of your regular pay. Leave Top Up Pay is treated as supplemental income and is subject to 22% income tax withholding, as well as FICA and state income tax.

You may also be eligible to use Paid Sick Leave to supplement any Paid Family Leave benefits you receive; however, your combined Paid Family Leave benefit and Sick Pay supplement pay cannot exceed 100% of your regular pay. Exempt employees are not permitted to use their Flexible Time Off (FTO) to supplement their family leave benefits, as FTO is not an accrued vacation benefit.

WHAT HAPPENS TO YOUR SEAGATE BENEFITS DURING A LEAVE OF ABSENCE

This document explains how going on a leave of absence will impact your Seagate benefits coverage and how you pay for your benefits coverage during a leave.

Paying Your Benefits Costs during Your Leave

While you are on a leave of absence, Seagate benefits coverage for yourself and your covered dependents will continue as indicated in the Benefits Coverage during Your Leave section below.

Payroll Deductions:

- Payroll deductions for your elective benefits (medical, dental, vision, optional employee life insurance, spouse/domestic partner life insurance, child life insurance, optional accidental death and dismemberment insurance, supplemental short term disability, long term disability, long term care, and Employee Advantages) and the spouse/domestic partner surcharge (if it applies to you) end when Seagate Payroll is notified of your confirmed first day of absence.
- In addition, payroll deductions for contributory programs (flexible spending accounts, health savings account, 401(k) plan, Deferred Compensation Plan, and the Employee Stock Purchase Plan) are suspended while you are on an unpaid leave.
- Payroll deductions are suspended for the duration of your leave and resume when you return to work.

If you have a 401(k) Loan:

- Be sure to read the 401(k) Loan section below to understand what you need to do to make sure your loan does not go into default.

If your leave is 30 calendar days or less:

- You do not need to pay for your benefits coverage during a relatively short absence of 30 calendar days or less.

If your leave is longer than 30 calendar days:

- If your leave exceeds 30 calendar days, you must continue to pay for your benefits coverage during your absence. You will pay the same dollar amounts during your leave that you normally pay while you are working.
- During your leave, you will be paying your benefits costs by writing a check to PayFlex, Seagate's benefits billing administrator for employees on leave.
- PayFlex will start billing you for your benefits costs effective the 31st calendar day of your leave. You will receive a monthly invoice from PayFlex showing the amount you owe for your benefits coverage for that month. PayFlex will pro-rate your monthly benefits bill for any month in which you are being directly billed for only part of the month.
- To guarantee continued coverage, be sure to send each monthly invoice to PayFlex with a check for the amount indicated by the payment due date. As an alternative to paying by check, you can pay online – details of online payment can be found on the invoice.
- To determine what your total monthly benefits cost should be while you are on leave, look at your most recent Seagate paycheck detail and add the bi-weekly payroll deduction amounts for medical, dental, vision, optional employee life insurance, spouse/domestic partner life insurance, child life insurance, optional accidental death and dismemberment insurance, and the spouse/domestic partner surcharge. Multiply this total by 26 pay periods to arrive at your annual cost. Then, divide this annual cost amount by 12 months to arrive at your monthly cost -- the monthly cost is the amount that PayFlex will invoice you for while you are on leave.
- The monthly benefits billing invoice does not include your payment for the long term care or Employee Advantages plans. For details on how to pay for your coverage under these plans, see the Benefits Coverage during Your Leave section below.
- When you return to work, your payroll deductions will resume and PayFlex will stop sending you a monthly invoice.
- If you have questions about your benefits billing, please call PayFlex at (800) 359-3921.

401(k) Loan

Non-Military Leave of Absence

If you are on an authorized, non-military leave of absence, you may suspend your loan payments for the lesser of 12 months or the duration of the leave, but only to the extent that the suspension of payments would not cause the term of the loan to be extended beyond the applicable maximum term. Interest will continue to accrue during the leave of absence.

However, if during your leave of absence you continue to receive a regular paycheck (other than from a disability payment), you must continue to make regularly scheduled loan payments, but only if there are sufficient funds remaining after mandatory withholdings and other withholdings. Seagate reserves the right to determine which withholdings shall take priority over loan repayments. These loan payments shall continue via payroll deduction.

When you return from the leave of absence, the outstanding loan balance (including the additional interest accrued during the leave of absence) will be reamortized over the remaining original loan term. If the original loan term is less than five years, the outstanding loan balance (including the additional interest accrued during the leave of absence) will be reamortized over an extended loan term (extension equal to the leave of absence, up to one year) that does not exceed the permitted maximum of five years from the loan origination date.

If your leave of absence exceeds 12 months, loan repayments must recommence at the end of the first 12 months of leave with the amount of each payment reamortized, or the loan will go into default as of the last day of the calendar quarter following the date the 12 month suspension period ended.

Alternatively, you may choose to continue making regularly scheduled loan payments in accordance with the loan terms by sending payment to Fidelity by ACH, certified check, money order, or other payment method as determined by the Committee. The Participant should call the Fidelity Retirement Benefits Line at (800) 835-5098 to set up these continued payments.

Military Leave of Absence

If you are on an authorized military leave of absence and have not received a distribution of your account, your loan payments will be suspended while on duty in the armed forces in accordance with Internal Revenue Code ("Code") Section 414(u)(4). Interest will continue to accrue at the lower of (1) the original interest rate or (2) six percent (in accordance with the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act) during such military leave of absence.

Alternatively, you may choose to continue making regularly scheduled loan payments in accordance with the loan terms by sending payment to Fidelity by ACH, certified check, money order, or other payment method as determined by the Committee. The Participant should call the Fidelity Retirement Benefits Line at (800) 835-5098 to set up these continued payments.

When you return from the military leave of absence, the outstanding loan balance (including the additional interest accrued during the military leave of absence) will be reamortized over a new loan term that ends no later than the latest permissible term of the original loan plus the period of military service.
